Why Your Child Should Learn a Second Language

A session with
Dr. Mary Grantham O'Brien

Session Description

What if one decision you make as parent could powerfully impact your child's academic achievement, communication and intercultural skills and problem-solving abilities as well as expand their future economic and academic opportunities? Would you want to know more?

Choosing to give your child the opportunity to learn second language opens these and many other doors, both in school and beyond.

Learn what the research says about the impact of second language learning for all students and participate in engaging conversation with Dr. Mary Grantham O'Brien. Dr. O'Brien is the principal investigator and author of the Literature Review on the Impact of Second Language Learning. All attendees will receive a copy of the Literature Review.

All parents of current and future students are warmly invited to attend this event at no cost.
